

WATER QUALITY COMMUNICATIONS WEBINAR

The Coastal Waccamaw Stormwater Education Consortium and partners cordially invite Grand Strand tourism / hospitality establishments and businesses who frequently interact with the public to attend this FREE webinar to learn more about our coastal water quality, how our water is tested, and what resources are out there to help you. Attendees will also have the opportunity to ask questions and share some of the water quality-related questions that they commonly receive from visitors to a panel of local water quality experts. Just in time for the fast approaching holiday! Speaker and panelist representatives include: S.C. Department of Health and Environmental, Horry County Stormwater Management, City of North Myrtle Beach, and Coastal Carolina University.
